

1. What is a judgment?
2. Is it possible to focus the attention upon a bare concept for any length of time without forming a judgment?
3. Discuss the two types of judgment differentiating between them, and also showing the difference between the sub-types of each.
4. What is the basis on which a judgment rests?
5. Show how the first type of judgment is based upon reality?
6. ~~As stated by the author, From what does this concept derive its status of reality?~~
6. Discuss the nature of the two types of reality?