

Running Commentary Following Gertrude's Death

Part 2 of 53

Franklin Merrell-Wolff

June 20, 1978

I feel like a shipwrecked mariner washed up upon an island of complete desolation and dryness, and I seek a drink of the water, the life supporting water, or death. There seems no other way. Out of this dryness, I cannot speak with enthusiasm; and without enthusiasm, the speech is of little value.
